ABSTRACT

Two hundred and twenty-four items comprise this guide to the literature on urban and minority education which is not easily accessible to educational researchers, decision makers, and practitioners. It brings together significant works in this area which appear in the January 1975 through April 1976 issues of Resources in Education (the abstract journal of the ERIC document data base). The references all bear a 1975 publication data. "ED" identification numbers are included at the end of each citation, where appropriate. A subject index by citation number and a statement on the availability of the cited materials follow the bibliography. (Author/AM)
